Let's Dream!: Brunch & Banter

Cedars Trustees

- Where is Cedars headed?
- What kind of community should we become?
- What would make us excited to invest in that future?

The Board of Trustees will be hosting a short and lively visioning session at our Sunday service on February 8 to gather ideas about how Cedars can better serve families, young adults, and the wider community — and what we as a congregation would like to resource over the next year as we plan for our annual stewardship campaign later this spring. Join us and help imagine what's possible.

The service on February 8 will be in our Brunch & Banter format, so please bring something "brunchy" to share along with your ideas!
Childcare will be offered for this Service. Click HERE for details.

A Message from Reverend Margo

February's Theme: Embodying Resilience

In a time when radical changes are occurring in our inner and outer landscapes, we need to surrender ourselves to the ways in which we are bound to one another and the cosmos. With January's events in Minneapolis, we are weary from all we hear on the news and social media, and we experience a paradoxical state of anxiety and worry, and yet the belief in and hope for restoration. This is the time to embody resilience in our thoughts, emotions and actions. We must also reject the myth of resilience being an individualistic endeavor.

No one is resilient alone or in all times and situations. Rather resilience is a dynamic process in which we can take turns being resilient for one another. Author and activist, Soraya Chemaly, teaches us to lean into our greatest assets for resilience which are: interdependence, collective versatility, and shared care. She tells us to ignore the messages that glorify self-sufficiency and limitless positivity and instead lean into shared care and being resilience for one another. When one of us is feeling immobilized by anxiety or sadness, others can take up the cause for a time and then switch so that all have time for rest as well as action.

Last week's interfaith demonstrations in Minneapolis, where over 100 Unitarian Universalist (UU) clergy and hundreds of UU laypeople were present, protesters held the vision and hope for one another. Those of us participating in the February 12th Faith in Action Day in Olympia will be doing the same as we support legislation that upholds the inherent worth and dignity of every person and the democratic process that should represent all.

Resilience is not bouncing back from an experience or pushing through it. Rather it is allowing the experience to change us. What happens to us becomes a part of us. Resilient people do not 'bounce back' from hard life events, rather they find healthy ways of integrating those experiences into their being. That is why, as Chemaly reminds us, we must think about our resilience as related to community. Community is often where healing occurs. It is the container for transforming from pain and worry to the knowledge that this too will pass and we will manage in the day to day until change comes.- Rev. Margo Rinehart

To be resilient is to proclaim that our love and legacies of love shall endure and make changes in our lives, our families, communities, and our world. May we embody resilience each time we persevere. May our resilience create ripples of possibility for those who seek us. As beacons for sanctuary and liberation. - Rev. Rebekah Savage

News and Announcements

Social Action Committee Special Collection

Pink Haven Collective helps Trans Families in immediate danger pull up stakes and relocate quickly to Blue States. The Pink Haven Coalition is a joint project between frontline trans organizers, UU Service Committee, the Unitarian Universalist Association, other progressive faith groups, and mutual aid networks across the country. They fund and arrange relocation costs, including moving, housing, and other related expenses. Pink Transport has helped several Trans Families move to Washington State in the past year. Tahoma Church in Tacoma (Rev Margo's other Church) currently hosts 6 Trans Families who have recently relocated with the help of Pink Haven.

We took up a collection last year to support The Transforming Hearts Collective and split the donation with Pink Haven. Those funds went to their national headquarters for disbursement. Since then, the WAJUUSTICE director, Nancy Reid, who facilitates Pink Haven in Washington State, has asked for more donations that will directly benefit families locally. They are in urgent need of funds to cover housing and household setup costs, which members of the host churches often provide. By giving generously today, we will help 6 families who have recently relocated to Tacoma and contribute to their settling into a safer home in our blue state.

For more information, email socialaction@cedarsuuchurch.org or contact Nancy Phillip.

NEW! Soul Matters Covenant Group at Cedars

Facilitated by Reverend Margo
Presented on Zoom
Date to be determined HERE

Covenant Groups offer the experience of discovery, solace, hope, and deep sharing through UU spiritual exploration and reflection in the supportive company of others.

The Soul Matters curriculum invites us to experience a theme each month. Practicing Resistance will be the theme for February. Embodying Resilience will be the next. As spiritual analysis without spiritual practice often leaves us unchanged, the exercises in each month's packet invite us to reflect on how the theme shows up in our daily lives.

Each person in the group will receive a monthly packet. Participants are invited to Select one of the 5-7 exercises and one of the dozen questions that speak about their life.

In our Zoom meetings, each session will include:

- Check-in
- Spiritual Exercises Reflection
- "You Question" Reflection
- Closing Words.

If you want to know more about the group before you sign up, contact Reverend Margo at minister@cedarsuuchurch.org.

For the first few sessions, the group will meet on Zoom once a month on Monday or Tuesday evenings. To determine what works best for their schedules, interested participants can choose from the available time slots at the link HERE. As the days get longer, the group might elect to meet in person.

Social Action Committee Service Highlight: Transforming Hearts Collective

- to bring side dishes and help with set-up, serving, and cleanup
- or help warm up the premade main dish, set up, and serve.

We provide side dishes or prepare the main dishes on alternating months.

You can sign up HERE for one or more slots, whatever works for you, and your help will be SUPER APPRECIATED! Our next opportunity is February 24.

For more information, please get in touch with Mike Cox at

Suquamish Community Kitchen

Every other month, Cedars takes the lead in preparing and serving a free, nourishing meal for anyone in our community through the Suquamish Community Kitchen. These meals require many helping hands to cook, serve, and clean up. Each role plays a vital part in making the evening run smoothly.

We invite you to sign up HERE to join the team. Your time and energy will make a meaningful difference.
